DETAILED ACTION

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 26-28 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Jaeger '145.

Jaeger teaches a method to sample, including: providing a body with bore 34, positioning a plunger 146 with bore 102 in the bore, extending the plunger to a sample receiving position (dashed lines in Figure 1a), retracting the plunger to a sample delivery position (solid lines in Figure 1a), removing the sample, moving the plunger forward to a parked position intermediate the sample delivering and receiving positions (see col. 7, lines 17-62), and using a motor means to maintain ("remains energized" on col. 7, line 59) the sampler in a locked position.

Jaeger does not use the term "locking", and the material sampled is not a dry product.

As to claims 26-28, Jeager's "remains energized...144" (col. 7, lines 59-62) suggests a locked plunger. In addition, it would have been obvious to sample a dry product because Wagener et al teach that solid materials may be sampled with a meter type sampler. It is known that dry solid materials are sampled from a tank, suggestive of use of Jaeger's sampler therein.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-5, 13, 14, 16 and 17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Jaeger '145.

Jaeger's device includes: body 32 with bore 34, plunger 150, means to reciprocate 98, and locking means 56.

As to claims 1-5, 13, 14, 16 and 17, please note that Jaeger's shaft 98 is the structural element that reciprocates the plunger 150, and that it does so as much as Applicant's disclosed rod 54. It is this shaft 98 movement that positions the plunger in each of the three claimed positions.

Claim 15 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Jaeger as applied against claim 1, and further in view of Wagener et al.

In addition, it would have been obvious to sample a dry product because Wagener et al teach that solid materials may be sampled with a meter type sampler. It is known that dry solid materials are sampled from a tank, suggestive of use of Jaeger's sampler therein.

Claims 18-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Jaeger '145 in view of Wagener et al.

As to claims 18-21, it would have been obvious to sample a dry product because Wagener et al teach that solid materials may be sampled with a meter type sampler. It is known that dry solid materials are sampled form a tank, suggestive of use of Jaeger's sampler therein.

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Abonnenc teaches slot 32 usage.

Claims 6-12, 22-25, 29 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.
